Guests Welcome
Space is limited, so be sure to register early.

Our hosts, Fred and Chris Thaxton, grow organic garlic and believe in locally sustainable crops. They are science teachers and have the knowledge to develop healthy soil and crops without damaging our environment. We will tour the garlic farm, hear a presentation on organic growing and specifically growing garlic, the sizing and sorting of garlic and garlic tasting. We will then enjoy a lunch on the farm catered by Nosh Eatery who buys their garlic from the farm. We will also visit the alpaca farm next door and hear about their operation. Master Gardeners can also purchase garlic from the Thaxton Farm and other items from the alpaca farm. With limited parking space (park in horseshoe shaped driveway), car-pooling is recommended. Pat Koch will provide a list of those who have signed up to each registrant.

Registrations must be received by Tuesday, August 12, 2014
